ms. Blackburn,
Well this year has come and gone so fast! I'm glad in a way. I'm going to miss ya'll alot. I have had a good time getting to know you. It has been fun working for you! Thanks for all the times you let us invade your humble abode. And eat your food and bug you to death. Anyway I'll miss you. I wish you the best of luck wherever you go. Just keep praying and everything will work out. Love ya Lots

Aim' Moan

Dear Miss Blackburn,

Well jelly bean here it is the end of the school year. Where does the time go? I feel like it can't possibly be over. We sure have had some insane but great times this year haven't we. We've had times of "fright"! Like all our night visitors that you would go outside and yell at, at the top of your lungs. I would race out the front door in my ~~back~~ feet and sprint around the dorm ready to kill the world! Good thing I never saw anyone, or I would have been scared to death. HA! We've had times of annoyance! I need only to say one word, Alix! I don't think I will ever, ever, ever be able to eat "Kraft" macaroni-n-cheese without thinking of her "casually" coming in at the precise moment to sit there and watch us until we would offer her some. Or how about our R.A meetings where we would get absolutely zero zip accomplished. I know we tried your patience more than oh I'd say 1000 times! We've also had times of insanity! Like you climbing all over the furniture to swat down a spider. I still am very sorry about that one. How about the gang you took to Taco Bell and we sang at the top of our lungs all the way back, or all the times we had to get dressed for Mr. Vargus! Oh and me letting you steal my towel during my shower! I'm kidding, I'm kidding, I've got to admit it you got it fair and square! But you didn't (go to the back)

The puzzle of Highland View is made up of many things. Academics, classmates, friends and athletics are just parts of the puzzle. Each student and staff member has an important role. If one piece were taken out, the picture wouldn't be complete — things just wouldn't be the same.

Even if we don't realize it now, HVA is a small part of our life. The "pieces" that we form and fit together here will be a part of us forever.

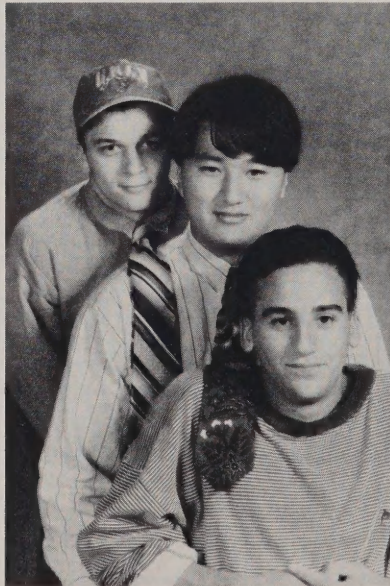

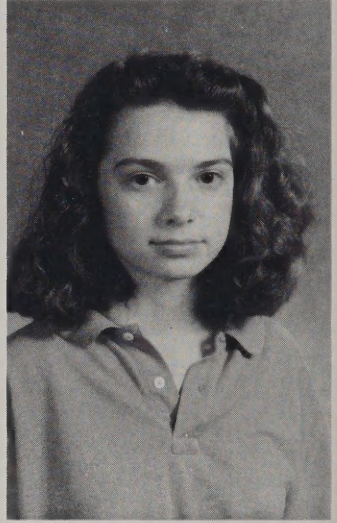

That's

"Dear Class of 1992,

"As I look back over the past four years, I see many changes that have taken place in my life. I am no longer the apprehensive, curious 14 year-old freshman who began academy four years ago. As class president I have observed similar changes in you. Each of us has changed and grown individually as we have worked together, studied together, and had fun together.

"We worked together at the Fall picnic, during our fund raisers, and in preparing for our class play. We studied together for history quizzes and spent late nights working on procrastinated writing assignments. And we all shared the relief of knowing that we would never have to take the SAT or ACT again! We had fun together at college days, our class party and on our class trip.

"Although we have grown and changed, our graduation does not mark an end to this process. As we step into a new phase of our lives, may we as members of the class of 1992 strive for excellence and allow God to lead as we continue to grow and change in every aspect of our lives.

What is your most memorable moment?

Toby Kirkpatrick — My fourth grade year, when I was acting up in class and the teacher sneaked out to call my mother, and she came to my school and spanked me in front of everyone.

Christina Gay — The grey mustang on dual highway with Heidi Maxwell.

Danny Bates — Working hard on a Post article and being almost done when Linda Yang unplugged the computer and lost it all.

Paula Wiesner — Fall week of prayer '88 when Elder Gary Rust introduced me to a loving Savior and I gave my heart to God.

Christine Schubert — Getting kicked out of the cafe, twice in one week with Amity, Christine, Frank, and Adam.

Catina Geyer — My freshmen year, when I got sunburned so bad that I couldn't walk and had blisters three layers deep.

Jack Brown — Finding a date for the '91 barn party.

Katy Herman — Crossing the finish line after the very first race of my life.

Christine Holtry — When I received "most valuable gymnast" award for gymnastics.

Robert Mollock — Winning races and weightlifting competitions.

What is the biggest prank that you've ever done?

Heidi Maxwell — Changing "For Sale," "Sold," and "Open House" signs from lawn to lawn and watching people go to houses that weren't on the market.

Alix Haney — Changing around everyone's clothes drawers in the dorm.

Tanya Van Hyning — Turning on the dishwasher in the cafe and not telling the person that was in the dishroom.

Tony Veney — Nothing that I could mention.

Eric Banfe — Pulling Ryan Melnick's gym shorts down in PE.

Ken LeVos — Taking one of my friends snipe hunting.

Andrew Burrows — I put a garden hose from 3rd floor bathroom into Jon and Harvey's room and let it run for hours.

Laura Smith — Stealing Jenni and Erica's clothes while they were in the shower.

Robert Mollock — Putting grease on the toilet seat and door knobs.

Heather Zinke — Webbing Dwight and Warren's room.

Ken Wright — You'll never know!

Paula Wiesner — One night after lights out I got under my roommate's bed and when she came in I grabbed her ankle with both hands and growled. It scared her half to death.

Karl Bergman III — Moving cars with my friends.

Has It Been Four Years?

"It's hard to believe that we've spent four years here at HVA," said Jen Mariani.

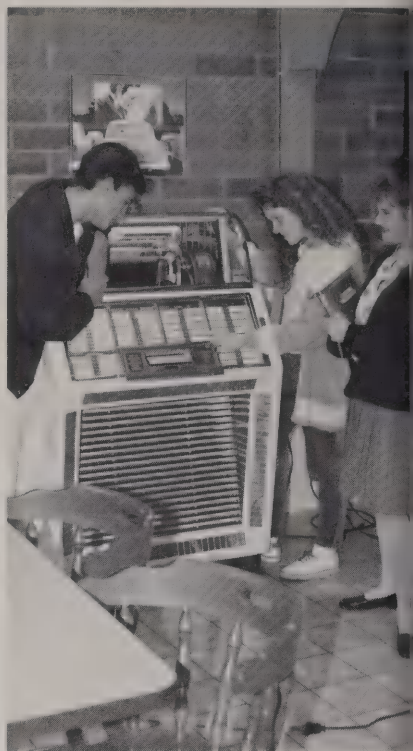

A lot happened in those four years — both good and not-so-good. They went from the freshman presentation of the 50's diner to their wins in the tug-of-war at the fall picnics. A lot of the four year seniors participated in varsity sports too. The girls put up with wearing skirts to classes for three years, but finally their senior year they were able to wear pants and jeans to classes!

Alix Haney said, "We went through many struggles here, both scholastic and emotional, but we stuck by each other through them all and helped each other along."

The seniors that were here four years will never forget the memories they've shared and the things they experienced together.

▼Chad Kirstein, Paula Wiesner, a Crystal Spencer took part in the "ev famous" 50's freshman officer presentation.

►Andrew Burrows, Tanya Van Hying, Jenni Kline, Erica Negley, Greg Nash, Ryan Melnick, Brian Spoonire, and John Kershner all helped to win in tug-of-war.

right!

You Put Up with Them for Twelve Years?

my buddie!

Yes, some did! Nine seniors went to school with someone from their class for twelve consecutive years. That's a lot of time to get to know someone, so naturally those people got pretty close.

During those twelve years a lot of memories were made. John Kershner, Christina Gay, and Ryan Melnick, of Frederick SDA, recall their eighth grade class trip to Myrtle Beach. Terrie Tucker, from Mount Aetna School, remembers being in love with Chad Carbaugh until she was thirteen years old! For some reason,

Crest Lane Elementary created memories of purple for Christine Schubert and After these students spent all this time together they decided to spend another four years at HVA. It's even been said that a few might end up going to college together.

Summer Spots

During the summer of '91, students and faculty did many interesting things and went on some great vacations. Many students worked all summer, barely taking a break at all.

Others went on exotic vacations or just relaxed by hanging out at home. Here are a few summer spots that some of them chose.

Lazing in the Circle

The centerpiece of our campus was the circle. No matter what the weather was someone was always there. In the dead of winter, there was a crowd fighting with snowballs. On warm spring afternoons, everyone gathered there under the rays! We went there to laugh, to talk out a problem or two, and even to shed a few tears.

Whatever the activity was, you could tell from the benches, that had been repaired again and again, that the circle was a favorite spot for a little bit of lazing around.

Spirits Soared at Leadership '91

"Sticky life-savers!" "Tremendously stupendous!" "Energetic!" "Lively!" "Musical!" "Pass-Set-Crush!"

These are just a few words to describe what Leadership Weekend was like at Camp Blue Ridge.

Leadership was more than just attending seminars and learning how to be a good leader — it was an opportunity to meet new people from the other Columbia Union academies, to get involved in high-energy activities, and to fellowship in a positive environment.

A Wilderness Experience

The Boys' and Girls' Clubs each took weekends in the Fall to go and "rough it" on their annual camping trips. The girls spent their weekend at Greenbriar State Park. Due to rain, they returned to the campus early. "As a four year senior, this was my favorite campout yet," said Jennifer Mariani.

Although there are some disadvantages to having your brother or sister at the same school, the seventeen sets of siblings who were in attendance enjoyed many advantages as well. The times when they could count on each other for help with homework, getting a ride to school, lending some money and listening to each other's problems, were just a few of the advantages that made it nice to have a little bit of home with them.

The SA held its annual barn party in a new location for the first time in ten years. The officers and their friends worked nearly four days to prepare the barn by restacking hay, moving boards, and removing years' worth of accumulated farm materials.

Since only one bus was available, the groups arrived in shifts. After mixer games on the tennis courts, they went to various activities which included a hay ride, a campfire story by Mr. Griffin, music by the Tooleys, and the hay maze.

"Besides a few sniffles and a little mess on my shoes, I really enjoyed the barn party," said Jenny Harding.

The Difference Is . . .

DeHann was always known for having "her girls" feel a closer sense of togetherness with motherly love, tenderness and a homey atmosphere. Hartle on the other hand ran "his guys" with a strong, rigid hand, bending just a little with a treat of home cooking or a pep talk, to show that he cared. His dorm was more simple than DeHann's, but it had its extras of a nicer TV, VCR, and a weight room. Although DeHann and Hartle had their differences, they fused together with a consistent program of study halls, late night and weekend policies.

Let Freedom Ring

When asked what they like about living at home, nearly all community students said "freedom!" What was this freedom they talk about? The independence to go off campus, to run to the store, and to watch TV whenever they wanted. It seemed that possibly the only disadvantage of being community was missing out on what happened at school when they were at home.

Tropical Paradise

"Under the Sea" was the theme of the girls' open house. As people went through the dorm, it was as if they were coming up from the depths of the sea to the beach and onto the boardwalk.

The boys' club banquet followed with a tropical paradise of palm trees, a grass hut, a waterfall, and a gorgeous sunset. Crystal Spencer sang a song and Brian Wilder, a comedian from Baltimore, entertained everyone with his flaming torches, unicycle, juggling act and unique humor.

After a movie, the guys escorted their dates from the warmth of the tropical paradise into the brisk, cool night.

Let It Snow

Snow captures the imagination. For a few, seeing snow was a new experience. For others, snow brought images of snowmen, snowball fights, sledding, and snow skiing.

There were a few times when the sidewalks were lightly dusted with snow. The students took advantage of the snow whenever it came and hoped for more.

Under the Christmas Tree

On December 8 the SA put on their annual Christmas party. As everyone entered the cafeteria they began the shrinking process! When they reached the dining area, all were the size of mice in comparison to the huge christmas tree overhead with the packages beneath.

Finger foods, sandwiches and turtle sundaes were served for refreshments. Santa and Mrs. Claus' delightful visit was followed by a movie.

Reflexionsd'amour

Entering under a lighted canopy of pink and white, students began their evening at the Valentine's Banquet on February 16th. The walls of the gym were transformed with winter landscapes below an imaginary moonlight. It was topped off with sheets of gossamer and a cluster of lighted balloons in the middle of the ceiling.

The menu was made up of French cuisine. Entertainment consisted of musical numbers and a special treat of medieval stories by Jon Jones. A sweet romantic movie ended the evening.

The Envelope Please

"Who are the new members of Student Association?" This was the question at election time near the end of the '90-'91 school year. This would be a team who would plan such activities as the Year End Event, Barn Party, Christmas Party, Valentine's Banquet and Spirit Week.

When the "new" officers got back to school they were filled with many ideas and hopes for the new year. After many hours of planning and decorating the events were perfected and the SA sat back to enjoy the satisfaction of seeing the students and faculty have a good time.

"The deadline is when?"

Designing layouts, developing and cropping pictures, getting the right tense of a verb in the copy--production of a yearbook is much more time consuming and detailed than one might have imagined. The staff aimed for the goal of "fitting the pieces together--perfectly", and hoped that was achieved.

EXTRA! EXTRA! Read All About It!

Carrying disks, folders, and edited articles, the Post staff trudged through wind, rain, or snow, to the ad building every Monday night to organize a monthly newspaper. The students looked forward to each edition and were frequently seen reading the latest issue in class.

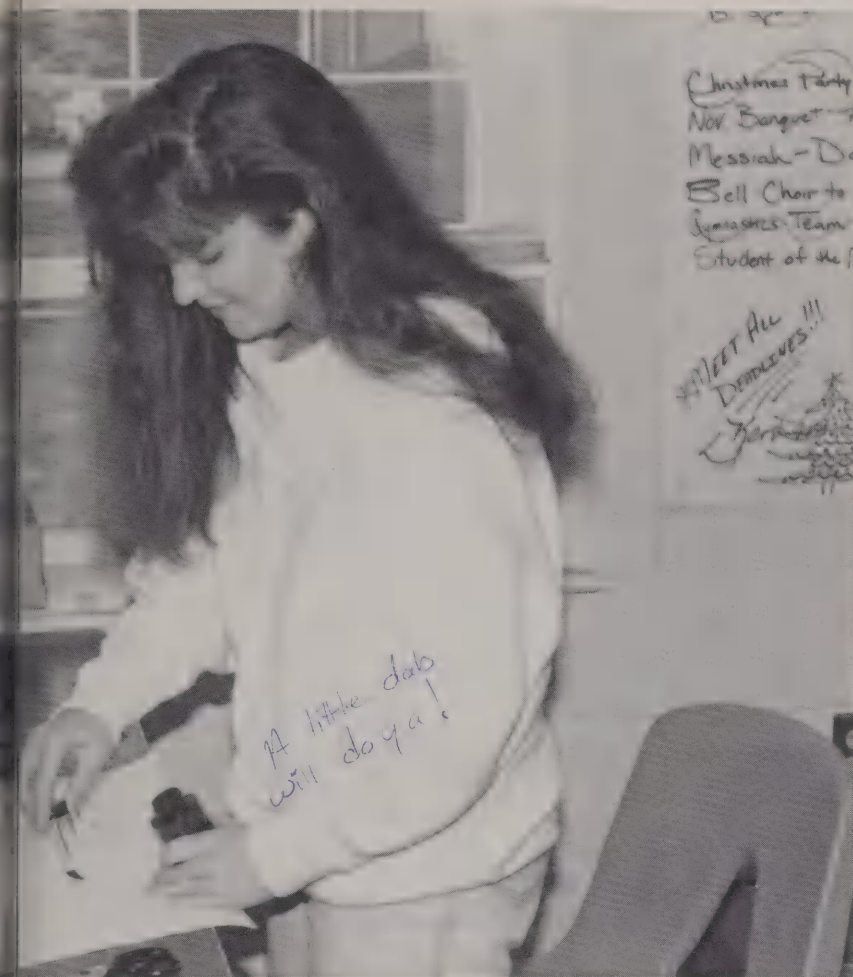

The Post staff spent many days and nights writing, re-writing and editing articles, developing pictures, learning the computer system, and laying out the newspaper. It was a tough job, but they learned what the term "responsibility" meant and how to work through total chaos.

No Boys Allowed

Every Thursday night was a time for "just the girls" to be together and take part in various activities. They went on a campout, mall trips, decorated for the Open House and rented a few movies. The officers elected for each semester planned the evenings for the girls. Even some community girls got involved once in a while when there was an exciting event. A favorite activity the girls did was the secret sis at Christmas. This made quite a few friendships and made a lot of people smile. Girls' Club was a great time to relax and enjoy the company!

Thursday Night Special

The officers worked hard to schedule mall trips, sporting activities, a backpacking trip, and the Boys' Club banquet, "Tropical Paradise." They raised some funds through the selling of snacks in the dean's office at night. A Thursday night special often turned out to be an evening of recreation in the gym . . . one of the guys' favorite activities.

The Start of a Brand New Year

The first puzzle piece of the year — registration. For some returning students this was a routine event, while for the new students it was frightening and exciting. Friendships were renewed by students who had not seen each other for three months.

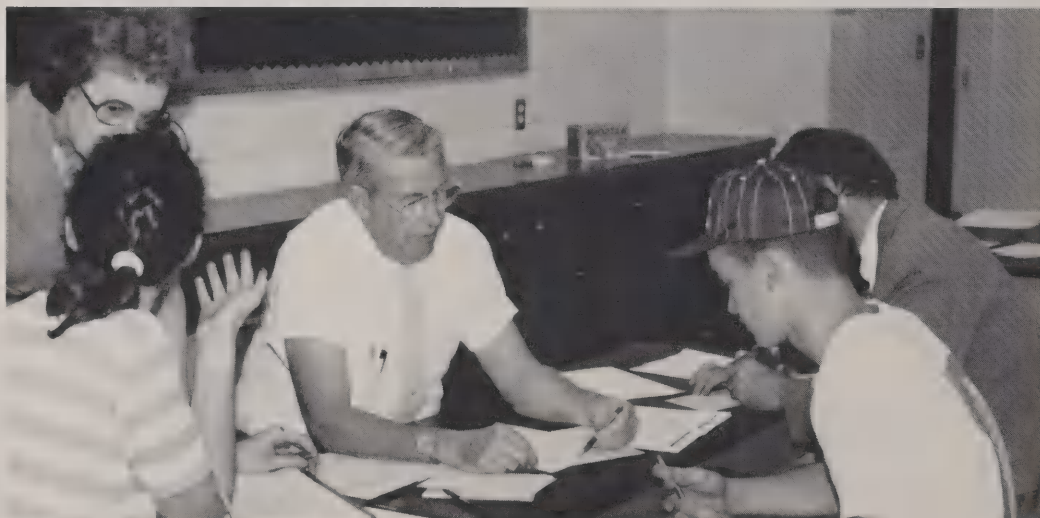

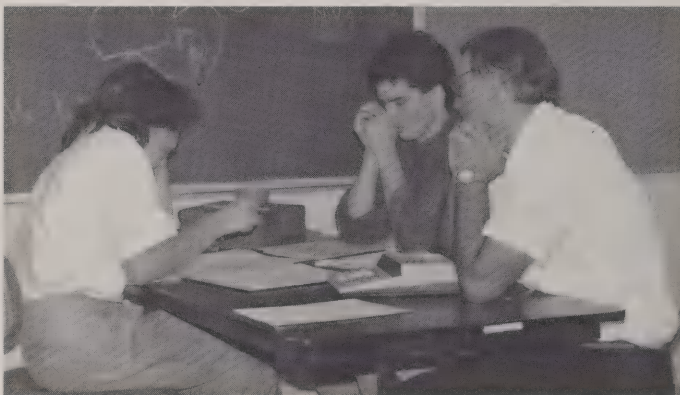

The registration process meant working out class schedules, getting work assignments, buying books, getting lockers and signing up with music teachers and coaches.

Registration day brought 39 girls into the girls' dorm and 42 guys into the boys' dorm, while 68 students signed up from the community.

After everyone was settled in, supper was served in the cafe, and the SA led the annual "get acquainted" handshake on the soccer field. "Undercover Christian," the evening devotional, concluded the activities, and the students went home or to the dorms to anticipate the first day of classes.

ounting down the days . . .

. . . was what most students and faculty alike did for the remainder of the year. Everywhere, you heard "only 45 more days," all the way to "just three days of classes left!"

The new year brought changes and additions to classes. New faculty brought fresh ideas with them. A French class was added to the curriculum. The arrival of twenty new IBM compatible 386 computers sparked interest among students and faculty. Learning was further enhanced by the new addition to the ad building with its three new classrooms and large library.

Although most everyone looked forward to summer vacation, many things were learned and accomplished during the year. Believe it or not, some students even counted down the days until the next school year started . . . (well, maybe a few).

The Other Campus

Over the year, adventurous faculty took large groups of students on a mission — to learn more about their classes through visual aids on field trips! Spanish, English, driver's education and history trips were welcome breaks from the every day routine.

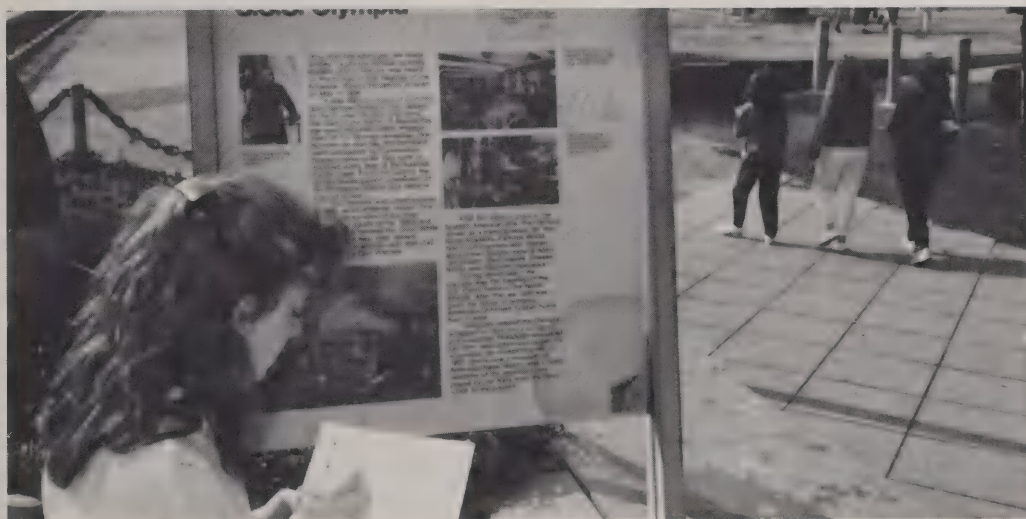

Mrs. Goddard, who frequently sponsored such trips with her classes commented, "Much of our education in life comes from resources outside of the classroom. Field trips gave students an opportunity to learn from other people."

Earning While Learning

Practically every student that attended here also had a job. Whether it was on campus or off, all of these jobs helped put a little dent in their tuition bills. These jobs provided students with background and experience that they utilized in other areas of the working world.

Even on those days that students dreaded heading to work, each job contributed to the "earning and learning" process of the students' work-study program. These are a few examples of what some students did for their school-time occupation.

Association functions and all the effort and time you spend.

Mr. Barr, we appreciate your efficiency and hard work in building the new wing at the school. Your excellent workmanship is greatly admired by the students who sit in those classrooms every day.

ATHLETICS

Autumn Athletic Activities

Varsity sports teams started having tryouts and practices during the first few weeks of school. Students could choose to participate in cross-country running, soccer, or volleyball.

Being a member on these teams meant giving up Sundays and evenings for practices, games and meets. It required teamwork, determination and self-discipline. Many students achieved success, setting new personal and school records and being recognized for their improvement.

Running ,“Just Because”

When the shot rang into the air on a cool Sunday in October, Highland View started its twelfth annual 2 mile and 10k race. A good turnout of 198 runners from twelve schools participated.

Everyone who ran, jogged, or even walked the race was a winner, receiving a T-shirt and a ribbon. Eighty trophies and other awards were handed out after the race. Although exhaustion had overtaken many, a few race records were broken and many personal goals were accomplished.

Tompaul Wheeler

described his own experience of breaking a personal record by saying, “I raced for personal satisfaction, pride, and, of course, extra credit in p.e. I may not have made any record breaking race time, but I had the pleasure of knowing my personal goal was achieved.”

At the end of the day . . .

. . . when classes were over and the cafe had closed after supper, it was time for "rec"reation to begin. Students would head for the gym to play volleyball, basketball, or floor hockey. Sometimes they would just pick teams and play, or shoot baskets for practice. Other times there was soccer or flag football on the field.

Rec was also a social event. Students sat around and talked to their friends, relaxed from the pressures of school, and tried to forget about the homework they would have to do later that night during study hall.

Sit ups, push ups, V-sits, handstands, walkovers, extensions, two and three highs, group stunts . . . All of this was part of regular gymnastic practices.

Not only did team members work hard physically, strengthening their bodies — they strengthened friendships by learning to trust each other.

Hot Shots

A tight game, a close call, feeling on edge, and fans on the sidelines screaming their support. Basketball predominated the months from November to February. The Junior Varsity, Lady Tartans, and Tartans spent many hours each week in practice and games. Whether they won or lost, the players learned important lessons in team work and sportsmanship.

At Ease

Organized sports were not the only athletic pursuits on campus. Students could be found working out in the weight room or jogging and cycling on the back roads to keep in shape. Many leisure activities were seasonal, and students waited for snow, a sunny day, or warm water to engage in their favorite sport. Students and staff took every opportunity to spend time outdoors relaxing at their favorite leisure activity.

"Education's triple goal of mental, physical and spiritual growth was important at HVA. The varsity teams gave the students a chance to further develop their physical skills.

"The team members spent extra time outside of class to practice their skills and to participate in games. No other group activities on campus dropped a student from their program due to low grades. The students were required to keep up their grades and met their other school responsibilities.

"There were many opportunities to witness as the teams travelled to other schools and met other teams. It was rewarding when a Christian athlete made an impression on other players and spectators, whether on or off the court.

"Congratulations to those who participated in the varsity teams, and thank you to the students who supported them. There were more than 100 names that appeared on the 1991-92 team rosters. Listed are the captains and co-captains of each team."

your miss Blackberry

H... It has been one great year. Thanks for that delicious meal
we had on sabbath.

Thanks for helping me babysit what would I have done without you.
Thanks for being our dean and thanks for all the things you have done for us.
Good luck next year.

Eric P.S. Good-bye ya, luck with Tina Eller

Miss you and I'll miss you Good luck in all your expectations. I'm going to see you and I'll miss you We live you have. Take care of yourself and see the through the "cover" and see the real not like that. Hopefully everyone else will have been a "bad" boy sometimes but I'm by helping me understand. I know I may forget. You made an impression on my life times in class, doing odd jobs for you, having you. Your friendship also means alot. The before this year. I'm glad I got to know your though I didn't know you that well
Ms. Blackburn

CHRISTIAN GROWTH

Miss B.,

You goofy lady you! Have we had some laughs or what? I just love the way you recite poetry. I want to thank you for being a good dean and a good friend.

Thanks for the dinners, rides into town, TV, and for sharing yourself with me. You care a lot about "your girls" and I appreciate that. I will miss you a lot next year, and I wish you the best in life because you deserve it! Keep listening to those Judds and country music.

Clasp

I lov ya

Wake Up to Music

For thirty-five teenagers to make it to class every day at 7:00 a.m. was quite a feat. For them to make beautiful music together was yet another. In spite of the early hour for rehearsal, the concert band was the largest band in recent years.

An important function of the band was to present church services at various locations throughout the Chesapeake Conference. This included having song services, mission reports, children's stories, and even sermons in addition to performing religious music.

The band also played for events on campus, and performed at the Review and Herald. A select group of students from the band joined musicians from other academies for Band Fest '92 at Columbia Union College.

Bells of Praise

The Bells of Praise completed a very exciting and successful year. In addition to playing at local churches, they were invited to play at the White House during the Christmas season. Thrilled to have this opportunity, the students felt somewhat disappointed when President Bush did not appear. They had to be satisfied with meeting the family dogs Millie and Ranger.

During the Christmas season, the bell choir also performed at the Maryland Theater and Lake Forest Mall. Meeting new people and representing the school were highlights of those trips.

An anticipated trip to Great Britain and Paris gave the students incentive to spend long hours practicing. The young people and their parents worked hard to raise money for this trip.

Sing to the Lord

Three different choral organizations on campus gave students more choices for singing praises to the Lord. Each had a specific role and function.

The school choir sang anthems primarily for worship services at the academy, touring only once each semester. Highlanders, the touring choir, performed at numerous churches throughout the Chesapeake Conference.

A special choir was formed to prepare for a major musical highlight of first semester — the performance of Handel's Messiah. The choir included thirty-seven Highland View Academy students, sixteen students from Shenandoah Valley Academy, over thirty singers from the community, and guest soloists. The Mount Aetna elementary school choir joined in on two of the choruses. A string ensemble from Sligo made the basis for a small orchestra to accompany the mass choirs.

Bill Bromme leads the choir in warm-up exercises.

The large choir performs a number during the Thanksgiving program.

"This year's Student Week of Prayer was a great success. I think that everyone who spoke had a good message and delivered it well. It takes a lot of courage to get up in front of your peers and talk about your beliefs, but every speaker did a good job. I was really blessed by watching my fellow classmates and friends get up and witness for Christ and carry it out in their lives. As a speaker myself, I was proud to be able to tell others what Jesus means to me. I hope that everyone was as encouraged as I was by this show of Christianity in our school and pride in our church. We need to get involved and show what the youth of the church can really do and that we care what goes on."

Spiritual Emphasis Week

There were three separate weeks of spiritual emphasis throughout the year. This was a time when the students could congregate together in hopes of finding a better life with God.

Pastor John Reeve from Minnesota conducted the Fall Week of Prayer from October 28 through November 2. His topic of developing habits helped the students to see the importance of spending time in daily devotions.

Many students explored the question, "Do youth have a role in the church?" during the student week-of-prayer from February 3-8. A few brave students got up in front and expressed their views and ideas through songs, skits, or talks. Students had a chance to participate through the song service each day at the morning and afternoon meetings. The week was closed with the Sabbath church service presented by the students.

Pastor Victor Brown from Southwestern Adventist College in Texas presented the Spring Week of Prayer from April 6-11.

Αγάπη Feast

On Friday night, January 17, the student body gathered in the cafeteria for an Agape feast. The tables were moved aside and the students and faculty were seated on the floor to enjoy a light supper and to chat with friends. Contemporary Christian music set the background as Pastor Tom Decker and some students shared their thoughts about Jesus' death and resurrection and the things for which they were thankful. Then Pastor Tom demonstrated with Hershey kisses the importance of sharing God's love to those around us. The group held hands in a large circle to end the evening with prayer.

Y2Y

Adventist Youth to Youth is a positive peer/prevention program. Included in the program is a wide range of activities such as family groups, creative games, and workshops. The workshops are designed to involve youth in solving the drug problems in their own communities and to give self worth to each participant. Y2Y provides teens with a chance to lead out in an environment where adults merely facilitate and support their efforts. Columbia Union sponsored a Y2Y conference in October at Camp Blue Ridge.

Each academy sent a group of students. Some participated as Youth staff, to lead out in family groups. Those that went shared a "high on life" and a memory never to be forgotten.

▲Jen Mariani demonstrates her version of a ballerina h

▲Michael Coe pins on his ingathering identification.

Cold Hands, Warm Hearts

On a cold December 4, over 100 students headed out in cars and vans to the neighboring community to raise money for the poor and needy during the holiday season. Ingatherers went from house to house trying to collect as much as they could to reach their goal for the year. Dedication led the students and faculty to tolerate the cold for those less fortunate and to hopefully spread a little insight on what the church is all about..

An Empty Field?

It was like trying to worship God at Memorial Stadium. The worshipers sat on metal chairs on carpet marked with free-throw and boundary lines. In the distance, they saw the small form of the preacher. There was a circle overhead, but it wasn't a halo—it was a basketball hoop. After a week of making long drives to a lay-up shot, young men and women dropped their thoughts of play in the gym and had to think of it as a church.

But dreams brought about a change. Plans were made, and construction was begun on a new sacred center of worship. The dream included a sanctuary that would bring the congregation close to the speaker, one that was acoustically designed to enhance the sound of praise from the school's choirs and instrumental groups. A separate chapel and outdoor amphitheater were planned to give the academy youth a place of their own — a place where people could declare their reverence for God, and where students could realize His presence.

A Day on the Honduras Mission Trip

"Time to get up!" Pastor Decker cheerfully announced. The mission trip volunteers dragged themselves out of bed and prepared for a day at the project site. After 15 different sweat-producing jobs were conquered, most of the group walked to the cool river as a reward for a day of work. Dinner was followed by worship where the singing and sharing drew the group together in a special way.

The rest of the evening consisted of free time and games. Bedtime brought feelings of satisfaction gained from serving God and one-another.

Christian Fellowship

Weekends were great for a chance to relax from the stress of the week.

Vespers on Friday evening were always different. There might be a special speaker, a slide show, a student speak out, or an all musical program.

After vespers students often gathered for afterglow to sing and share.

Sabbath afternoon was an opportunity to catch up on sleep, visit with friends, or participate in some adventure planned for the day. Hikes, videos or Bible games in the lounge, trips to D.C. and singing bands to the nursing home were some of the activities that livened up the day.

These days, you need more than a college degree to get a job.

You know the old adage: "You can't get a job without experience, and you can't get experience without a job."

Columbia Union College has found a solution. And you'll want to be a part of it.

CUC belongs to a nationwide cooperative education network that provides a partnership between employers and students. At CUC an entire office staffed by two full-time faculty assists students in finding jobs.

At CUC you'll be plunked right into the center of unlimited opportunity. The Washington, D.C., metropolitan area is home to thousands of government offices and business headquarters.

Our students have worked at embassies, IBM, NASA, the Seventh-day Adventist world headquarters, National Institutes of Health, the Executive Office of the President of the United States, Congress, and many others.

You'll be able to attend an Adventist college where you can continue to develop your Christian values and, at the same time, work in top companies.

To add to the good news, co-op students earn cash while they get experience. In fact, they make an average of $7.94 per hour.

By working full time during the summer and part time during the school year in our area, some students have earned more than $8,000 a year. And since our tuition is less than many other private schools', that money will go a long way. Add a modest parent contribution, a scholarship or grant, and you're well on your way toward paying for your college expenses.

You're also well on your way to starting your career. After graduation, two-thirds of our students get offered permanent jobs by their co-op employers.

Come join these students at Columbia Union College. A diploma alone won't get you the job.

Dear Ryan,

It's been such a joy to watch you grow and mature from a boy to a young man over the past few years. We are so proud of your strength of convictions, your love for God, and your sense of responsibility for the task at hand. Whether it was setting up a photography class for Junior Camp, tackling college calculus, or spending countless hours organizing an art auction fundraiser for your class, your devotion to duty and hard work have made us feel honored to be your parents.

There is no limit as you reach for your future goal: "SPACE — the final frontier . . . to explore strange new worlds, to seek out new life . . . to boldly go where no man has gone before."

Good Luck

Dear Greg,

In the last four years you have become a young adult. You have learned to respect other people and to care about their welfare.

Under pressure of life you have shown that you will choose right. May the Blessings of Deuteronomy 28 be yours, for like your Heavenly Father said about Jesus, we say, "This is our Beloved Son in whom we are well pleased."

Love,
Mom, Dad & Aaron

Heather,

We tried to teach you values and morals and to be honest and true.

We tried to help you realize the importance of human relationships and family ties, and to love the human race.

We tried to encourage you to be your own person even though sometimes we didn't want to.

We tried to set an example that you wanted to follow and to explain Heaven as a place you could see our family united.

But after all this, you have taught us about values and human relationships and love and dedication not only to us but to the whole world.

So go for it Heather! We love and respect you, and you have never let us down.

Love,
Dad + Mom

Together we've come to the end of another year. I hope that you have enjoyed yourself as much as I have. As you've looked through this yearbook I hope that you've been able to relive some of the memories that were just a piece of the year that you spent here.

I would like to give special thanks to my advisors and staff for all their hard work and dedication to getting this yearbook out on time. A special thank you to Shari Blackburn for her help in many ways, such as dingbats and staying up all night to make final corrections, Steve Vargas for his help in taking pictures and the darkroom, and Joyce Mayden for her help in the final proofing. I don't think we could have ever done it without you!

I hope that you've enjoyed the 1992 Highlander as much as we have enjoyed putting the pieces together to make it what you hold in your hands.

Thank you to those special people who gave me encouragement when I was frustrated, made me laugh when I was down, and tolerated me when deadlines were only hours away. You all are very special to me!

have to lock my door you mean! We've had times of anger! Our wonderful bonding and growing arguments or discussions as we would tell Uncle Vargie! We are both as hard headed as mules. Maybe that's why we get along so well. Speaking of anger you've also listened to all my explosions about classes, teachers, faculty, and Ken.<sup>tee</sup> They all sure did aggravate the living fiber out of me. We've had times of extreme, dedicated competition! (Yeah right) what I'm talking of is MARIO 3! and I'm not speaking of Nancy's boyfriend.<sup>tee</sup> No I'm speaking of Mario and Luigi neck and neck dashing toward the ultimate goal of total completion and saving the ever waiting Princess!! OK so maybe it's not all that but it sure is fun isn't it! I do believe that it has gotten us both threw many a stressful situation. I don't think that I would ever have gotten threw the school year with out you, Nintendo, your couch, and your fuzzy blankets! We've had times of "coma's"! Remember when I promised to watch the dorm when you came in and asked me to after I went to bed? I sure hope you remember it because I sure don't! Or how about me asking you to put me on sick list because of my "terrible pains"! What a joke, I'm such a screwball when I'm asleep arn't I. But I also remember

Miss Blackburn,
Thankyou for being a great Home ec teacher.
Sorry I wasn't in class very often!! You're a great person. Have a wonderful life!
Love!
Jennifer
Crouch.

Miss B,
Have a great summer and a happy
year.
Good luck in what you do.
Love,
Dance

Miss Blackburn,
Thanks for all the great home ec. classes that you let us leave early. Have a great summer and rest of your life.

Miss Blackburn -
Thanks for being such a great teacher! Have a wonderful summer! Love!

Miss Blackburn,
I have had tons of fun in your class this year. You are a always very enjoyable God teacher. Thank you for not showing up for

Miss Blackburn,

Thanks for a great class. I hope you have a great rest of your life. Thanks for letting me use your phone & not making me pay $25¢. Good luck!!

Mrs. B,
 Thanks for everything
 You encouraged me to take do my best & include De in my decisions. I know sometimes I was a brat & I'm sorry. You've been a great friend, thanks for letting me vegetate in your apartment & watch movies.
 I'll never forget your generosity & love.
 Love that's in our hearts will keep us together.
 Remember what you told me "Let God lead you," he's the only thing that can make it all work. I f + make it to heaven, when I see you one of the stars in your crown, when he because you were a true witness of him.
 always be in my prayers, come back & visit.
 Love always,
 Kenya
 P.S. When you get down get that someone in West Virginia loves you naina!
